[STANZAS 16-21]

- 2 Unharm'd through the sea, where perished their foe,
He caus'd them with ease and safety to go;
His holy land gaining, in peace they were brought
To dwell in the mountain the Lord's hand had bought.
- 3 He gave them the land, a heritage fair;
The nations that dwelt in wickedness there
He drove out before them with great overthrow,
And gave to His people the tents of the foe.
- 4 Again they rebelled and tempted the Lord,
Unfaithful they turned to idols abhorred,
And God in His anger withdrew from them then,
No longer delighting to dwell among men.
- 5 He gave them to death in battle, although
His glory and strength were scorn'd by the foe;
Their young men were fallen, their maidens unwed,
Their priests slain in battle, none wept for the dead.
- 6 Then mercy awoke, the Lord in His might
Returned, and the foes were scatter'd in flight;
Again to His people His favor He show'd,
And chose in Mount Zion to fix His abode.
- 7 His servant He call'd, a shepherd of sheep,
From tending his flock, the people to keep;
So David, their shepherd, with wisdom and might
Protected and fed them and led them aright.
